Ed,

Sorry, I was cutting grass this afternoon and left my phone on the bench in the garage.

I agree that we should discuss it. I'm not sure how you want to present this, and there is already a draft of the report from Marjory.

No one said that we still didn't want the cost of a bricks, mortar and steel arena - at least to me. Some of the other commentary that WGD provided was voluntary. Probably protecting their position a little. We didn't ask for anything to do with schedule, at least I didn't. We were looking for building cost and operating cost primarily, for comparison. They did provide some options with regard to energy efficiency, adding to the cost, which I will include in the model.

I worked on the financial comparison template this morning and will expect to finish it tomorrow morning with plugged numbers for the Sprung option. I think I do understand how the numbers might turn out, but have structured so that we can manipulate it as required. Or is a comparison not advisable?

Give me a call tomorrow morning sometime if you like, otherwise suggest a time and place. I have some commitments tomorrow afternoon.

Thanks,
 Dave

Dave:

I think you and I need to have a discussion and get moving in the same direction.

Sorry Ed, I wasn't aware of that and from my discussions with Dave, I don't think he was either.

Is this for Central Park? I was under the impression we told Dave they were to work on Eddie Bush only?

Hello to all,

Please find attached a revised package with the information compiled into one report. I believe the only piece we are now awaiting is the estimated operating costs. Will forward that as soon as I receive.

Thanks
Marta
