I'm sure he would. Just a thought to get the info out.

I'm good as long as he would make it clear on the show and elsewhere that the item is "patent process protected".
I'm in.

Guys:

We should try and get a meeting with Mike Holmes from the TV program "Holmes on Homes" and see if he buys into our solar vent. We could offer him some free vents or we could give him a small incentive such as a part of Peter's take (kidding).

Seriously the guy is a God with the public and contractors. I was also informed today that ESA is giving him an award.

What do you think?
